Dear Carl:

I wanted to take this opportunity to thank you for attending our "last meeting" for our project and for your presence at our Open House. You are a busy man and to take the time from your schedule was very much appreciated.

Our building turned out great which was due to the knowledge, hard work and professionalism of your staff. From day one, your staff represented Davie Construction Company extremely well. You have a great group of folks working for you.

Brad was our first contact who came in and presented the quote, answered questions, and sold us on Davie. He captured our trust from the get go.

We cannot say enough about Wayman and Daniel. Wayman has a wealth of knowledge and he and Daniel were so accommodating. If we asked Wayman for an opinion, he gave it. If we needed ideas, he would think about it and come back with choices. He was never rattled nor did he ever show any frustration (no matter how many change orders we threw at him). If we asked a question which he did not have the answer for, he would tell us "I'll check on it" – and he did! He always communicated with us and provided the answers. There was never a feeling that any corners were being cut or that we were receiving anything but the best.

Daniel has the great personality, demeanor and skill for working with customers which you typically do not see in someone at his young age. He was organized and worked around our schedule at all times. He was faultless in letting us know what was occurring and when. Our schedule was his schedule. We know the 5 PM meetings took away from personal time/family time, but he never appeared inconvenienced. It is obvious Daniel takes his job, the safety of the job site, and the quality of work being done very seriously.

The date for the completion of our building was met (a few days early). The inspections were scheduled and corrections made and rescheduled with our goal in their minds. Wayman and Daniel were tireless in making sure we would be able to meet our move date. They became vested in our building and what we were wanting to accomplish.

It would be my pleasure to recommend Davie Construction Company to anyone considering this type project. We could not have had a better process and outcome. Our office opened on time without a glitch of any kind. We not only had a great experience with your employees but feel we have made some great friends through the process.

Thank you again, and let us know if we can ever be of service to you.

Sincerely,

Vic Khemsara, M.D.
